For His Kind Guidance and Quiet Leadership in our Most Formative Years This Book Is Gratefully Dedicated

MISS LOUISE I. CAPEN

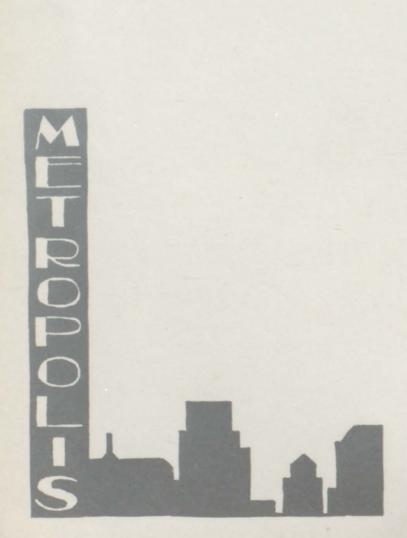

RAYMOND B. GURLEY

A Thoughtful Leader Whose Personality Has Made a Very Definite Impression Upon Our School Career

MISS GENEVIEVE GRORK

UNFORTUNATELY, circumstance has ordained that one of the most gracious and best beloved teachers that ever graced either the old or new buildings shall not be with us this June as an active home-room teacher.

Only last term Miss Genevieve Grork, after thirty-nine years of faithful service and conscientious teaching, tendered to the Board of Education her resignation as teacher of English.

In her long association with Barringer, she has made English something more than a subject to be studied in school: she has instilled into that course a feeling of adventure; a desire to accomplish much; and a certain dignity which, strange as it may seem, is rather rare in school. Who can ever forget those days in 63 when we learned more than English; when, as one individual put it, we learned to know ourselves.

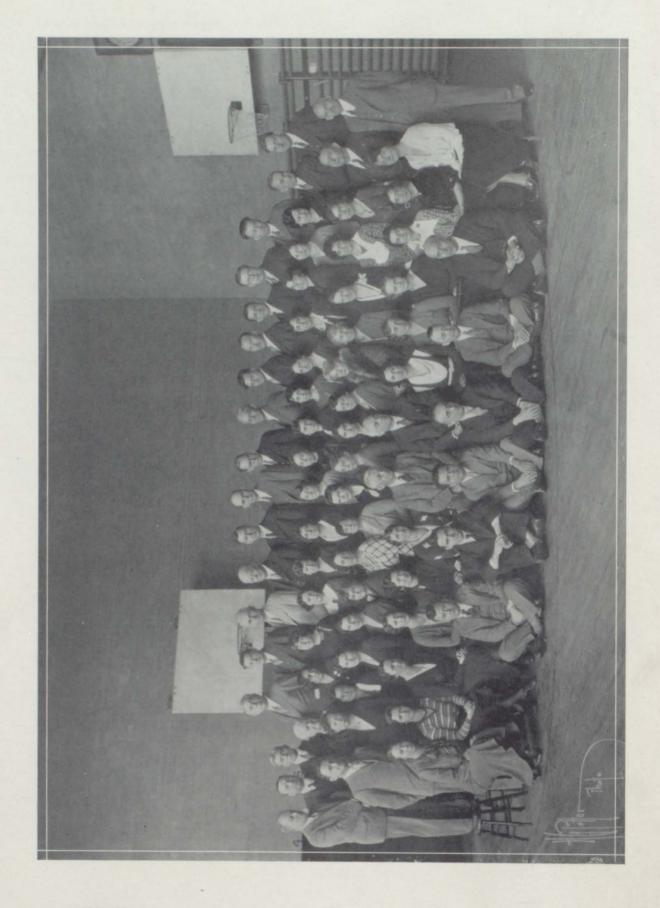

Now, no longer harassed by the troubles of a modern high school, she resides happily in a delightful home in Belleville. As the spirit moves her, she alternately cooks, goes automobile riding and occasionally, to the joy and happiness of all, returns to the halls of Barringer.

MR. ARTHUR V. TAYLOR

AFTER forty-five years of instructing the youth of the city in the idiosyncrasies of Latin grammar and translation, Arthur V. Taylor is resigning this June. To go into the accomplishments credited to this man and the honors that he has acquired would be to go into the history of Barringer High School and the Newark School System from 1888 to the present day. His interests are numerous; his occupations many—photography, boxing, golfing, bowling, fishing, and writing being but few examples of his versatility.

It is very doubtful which is more important, his instruction in Latin or his instruction in the basic and fundamental points which go to make clear minded men and women. Although it strikes us rather humorously, the front seats of 41 have probably done more for our education than Virgil and Ovid put together.

When approached concerning his future plans, Mr. Taylor was rather reticent simply saying that he would "not grow stagnant". However, it is hoped that when he is not staying in his summer camp in Maine, he will return frequently to enliven the classes at Barringer.

EDITORIAL

FROM time immemorial cities have risen from the earth and have prospered from the fat of the land around them. Some of them have sunk into the depths of oblivion, some retain only a vestige of the glory that was once theirs, while others lie resplendent in all their power and majesty. All, however, have left their influence on our civilization, whether they were cities of thatched huts, of brick and mortar, or of stone and steel. All have contributed to our languages and customs, even to our ideals and morals.

So too our Metropolis has risen from the abundant homes of this section and has prospered on the youth of the community. She has influenced our lives, much more, perhaps than the cities of old have affected the world of today. Her doctrines have stimulated our minds and we have acted accordingly. Her ideals have become our ideals. We have tried to exemplify her noble character in our own.

Now comes the time when the city summons her great and ushers them forth into the world at large. Not a warm receptive world but an old and depressed world. It is at this time that a strange feeling confronts us. Lumps rise in our throats. Our minds are filled with doubt. We wonder if this graduation, to drop the metaphor, is to be the happy event that for four years we have been preparing ourselves for. It is the uncertainty of our existence afterwards that causes us to feel this way. It need not be so, provided that we do not forget those common-sense lessons learned here. We will go out into the world and strive until we take our places with those who have gone before. WE WILL SUCCEED,—by dint of hard work.

METROPOLIS

Cutting into the azure blue of the sky,
Dazzling the eye with your sparkling brightness,
Towering magnificent, above the clouds,
You, the symbol of work and aching toil,
Are the stupendous achievement of man.
Rearing your chrome metal heads majestically,
Housing the thoughts and lives of the future,
Colossal structures of steel and concrete,
You are a token of that which is to come.
May you live on forever.
Oh Mighty Metropolis. . . .

May the eons ring with the praise of your deeds,
May Truth, Honor and Light illumine your advance;
May your sons subdue all bottomless space;
And may they learn the secrets of the ages.
If there be an end, the Fates willing so,
And you sink into the abyss of Time,
Let the heralds of eternal creation
Trumpet forth your glory to the etherial void. . . .
Let them trumpet so mightily that they
Of celestial Vega know your end has come,
Oh Mighty Metropolis. . . .

THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

President	WILLIAM HAUBER
Vice-President	KATHLEEN WATT
Secretary	MARGARET O'NEILL

THE NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY needs no introduction to the students of Barringer. It goes without saying that it is the greatest honor for a student to become a member of this society. Scholarship, although it is a large factor, is not the only thing considered by the faculty in choosing members for this organization. Along with it enters the question of character, leadership, and service to one's school. Only a small proportion of the students of the three upper classes are chosen—fifteen per cent of the 4A's, ten per cent of the 4B's, and five per cent of the 3A's.

During the past term a Barringer Handbook has been prepared, as a quide not only to the freshmen, but upper classmen as well. The Honor Society tries to be of value to Barringer also, by giving auditorium programs, and looking out for the welfare of the school in other ways. This work must be carried on, and each term another group gets its turn to do this work.

THE ACROPOLIS

Editor-in-	Chief	DOUGLASS B. ORTON

Assistant	Editors	OLIVER W. HOPKINSON, JR. THOMAS ALLSOPP

FOR a long time before the existence of a monthly publication at Barringer there flourished a paper called the Annual. This paper, published during the years 1856 to 1880 was of a literary nature. In it there were many different types of literature, including poetry, essays and short stories. All the periodicals were put into one big book and still are in the school holding the place of one of the most treasured heirlooms.

In 1877 the Hesperian Record and Montagu Round Table came into prominence but after two years their predecessor, the Annual, was the only journalistic paper.

Then in 1899 came the present joy of Barringer, the Acropolis. The Acropolis, since then has grown not only in popularity but in value and without it Barringer would not be the same. This year it was awarded third prize among class A publications at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Let's hope that next year it will win first place and during the succeeding years will hold it.

MODERN LANGUAGE HONOR GROUP

NEXT to being a member of the National Honor Society, membership in a modern language group ranks as a high honor. These groups are composed of the exceptional students of each language. The French group under the able direction of Mrs. Carleu has presented a French program in auditorium and is working upon a project. Its officers are: President, Andree Belverge; Vice-President, Genevieve Roemmele, and Secretary, Ruth Wentworth. The Spanish group, advised by Mr. Zweibel, devotes its meetings to studying Spanish dramas, and occasionally goes to see a Spanish play. In the Italian group, under Miss Lucchina, Italian operas are studied. Philip Viscidi is the treasurer. Miss Smith directs a group of German students who work along the same line as the other modern language groups. Keys or pins are expected to be awarded to members of these groups.

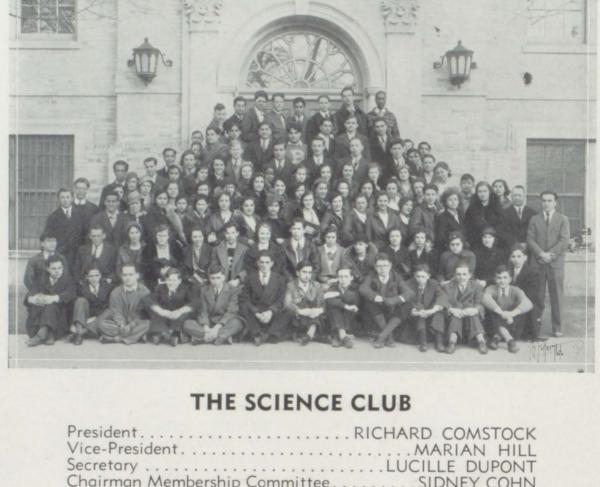

THE LATIN CLUB

Consuls	SAYRE LUMMIS
Praetors	ROBERTA BERMINGHAM
Quaetor	JOE SANTANGELO
Aediles	BETSY KAUFMANN LEWIS WALKER
Scriba	ELIZABETH BEANS

THE POPULUS ROMANUS, reorganized several years ago, has flourished for the last few terms with Mr. Haulenbeek as its capable advisor, who because of afternoon classes has relinquished his position to Mr. King, the head of the Latin Department.

The members of the club are divided into two groups. The seniors are called the Patricians and the lower classmen are called the Plebians. The officers are named after the officials of ancient Rome, with two consuls, one of whom must be a Plebian, acting as president, a questor, the treasurer, and a scriba, the secretary. The censor keeps the roll of the Populus, and the aediles provide the entertainment.

The Populus Romanus awards two prizes each term. One prize is given to the member who makes the best speech at one of the meetings, and the other to the one receiving the best marks for at least two terms of Latin.

THE popularity of the Science Club, ever since its organization, has hinged on the universal interest it stirs. The advance of modern science and its application to industry are kept before the eyes of the members by lecturers from business concerns in the neighborhood. The students are given opportunities to present their hobbies to their fellow-members at student programs.

Although the membership is drawn from the school at large, the students of Biology, Chemistry, and Physics are spurred on to greater efforts by the offering of a Science Prize to the student who does the best work in the sciences he or she may have studied.

The faculty advisor of the club is chosen each year from among the science teachers. This year Mr. Dumm, due to the worries of supervising the 4A Class, has foregone this pleasure, and in his stead Mr. R. J. Hagaman has become the advisor, until such time as they shall again find it convenient to change.

THE LIBRARY STAFF

PresidentEVA ZECCA
Vice-President EDITH CLARENDON
SecretaryGENEVIEVE ROEMMELE
Treasurer

THE LIBRARY STAFF, which consists of students chosen by the librarian, Miss Dow, is one of the most useful organizations in the school. The members are chosen according to their scholastic standing, and it is an honor to belong to the staff. At least three periods a week are required for service to the club. During these periods the members check books, assist in keeping order in the library during the absence of the librarian, and give aid to the students in any way possible. The knowledge they obtain in working on the staff is sometimes helpful in securing work after their graduation.

Aside from their work, they have their own social activities. A faculty tea is given every term, and it is enjoyed by the teachers as well as the members. They also attend a show in New York. They have recently become a member in the New Jersey Library Council, which will acquaint them with the various libraries in the State.

JUNIOR-SENIOR AUDITORIUM COMMITTEE

THE Junior-Senior Auditorium Committee, recently formed to plan and execute bigger and better programs, carries out an idea formed some time ago. The programs which have been brought before the school so far have been arranged very successfully and others in the making promise to be as good. These programs are the result of hardy endeavor on the part of the committee as well as those who take part as leaders in the details of all programs. The student participators are chosen from various classes by faculty members.

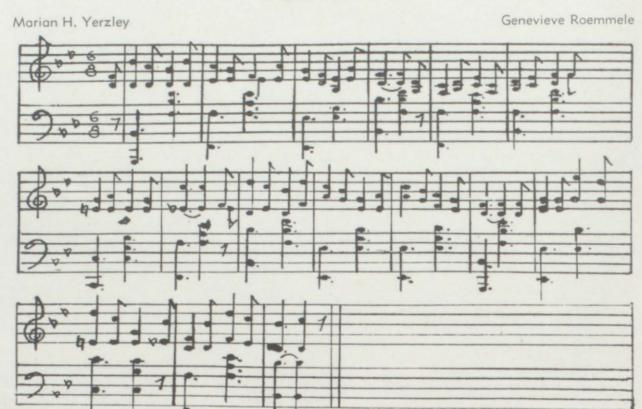

The committee is composed of eight seniors and four juniors advised by a faculty council of five. Mr. Saylor is chairman. The student members hold weekly meetings to plan programs for future presentation. At these meetings faculty members supervise all activities planned. The members of this group are nominated and elected by a popular vote of the class to which they belong. They have shown much reliability and originality in bringing lecturers and speakers from leading Eastern colleges and institutions and in selecting student programs to be given before the school.

ORCHESTRA

THE orchestra, under the direction of Miss Robinson, has risen to great heights in the fields of music. This organization, founded several years ago, is composed of students interested in music, and acquainted with musical instruments. Any student who possesses ability along this line and who owns an instrument is eligible for membership. The school regrets that the orchestra is not present more often at the regular assembly periods, but because of the double session it is very difficult for the members to get together for rehearsals. However, the orchestra is very anxious to co-operate with the Auditorium Committees in assisting with programs, and often renders orchestral selections when we have an all-musical program. Thus the orchestra can be ranked with the other clubs as of great value to the school.

OUR CITY

Of all the cities we have seen, Of all the towns we've known, We're glad it's you, oh Barringer, That we can call our own.

As aliens we settled here A few short years ago; As citizens we're leaving now Though we are loath to go.

The World most highly honors you, A city of great fame, While we're away, we'll do our best To emulate thy name.

Though in the years that loom ahead, In many states we roam, We'll ne'er forget dear Barringer, The town that is our home.

POLO GROUNDS

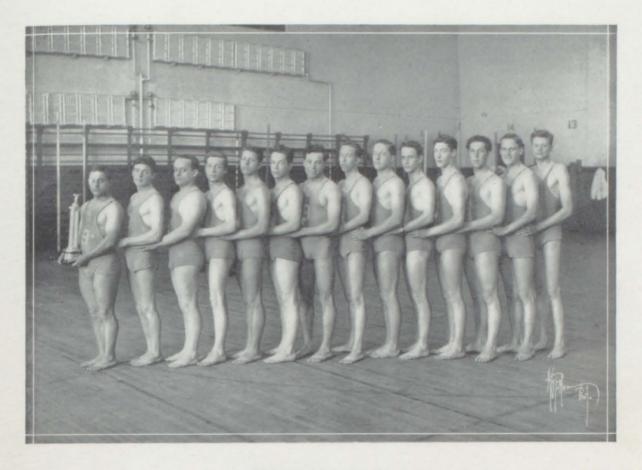

TRACK

THIS year's track team is one of the strongest Barringer has had since predepression days. During the indoor season just completed they won the North Jersey Championship, and placed third in the State Championship meet. Now with the coming of spring the boys are preparing for a strenuous outdoor campaign, which all believe will be the best in recent years. As the team has won the city title seven times in the last seven years, it is safe to say that this team has the power to win it again. The Board of Education, Montclair Invitation, and, possibly, the State meets should show our boys on top, for under the able tutelage of Coach Vic Salerno and the fine leadership of Captain Albanese, the boys are bound to give their best at all times.

The varsity men who will graduate are: Captain Albanese, Tomson, Shanks, McKenna, Flagg, and Bardacke.

An attractive schedule has been arranged, which besides the meets mentioned above, contains: Penn Relays, Kearny Relays, Princeton Interscholastics, and dual meets with South Side, West Side, and Union High Schools.

SWIMMING

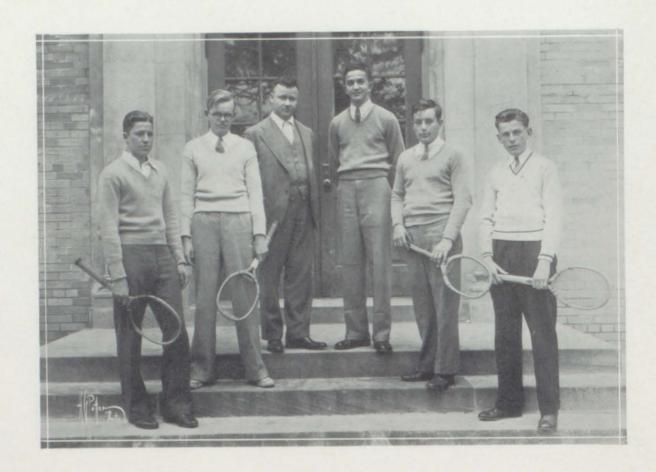

THE swimming season this year has been one of the most successful in recent years. Although our team won only six out of thirteen dual meets, they atoned for this by placing third in the State meet, and capturing the city swimming crown.

This year the team was coached by Mr. Fred Moller because of the fact that Mr. Payton, the regular coach, had afternoon classes and couldn't attend practices. Mr. Moller started the season by setting a precedent, when he appointed Danford Jones, captain. Heretofore the varsity men have always elected the captain.

Dan Jones, in order to set a good example, went through the season as leading point scorer, and won the city and State 100-yard crowns. Jones, however, was well backed up by the rest of the team, consisting of Walsh, Allsopp, Miller, Schmitt, A. Fischer, Comstock, Del Guercio, Bill Fischer, Van Houten, Brine, Stukkart, and Manager Barba.

Although the team will lose A. Fischer, Comstock, Del Guercio, and Manager Barba, the future looks bright and we may well watch the lads next season.

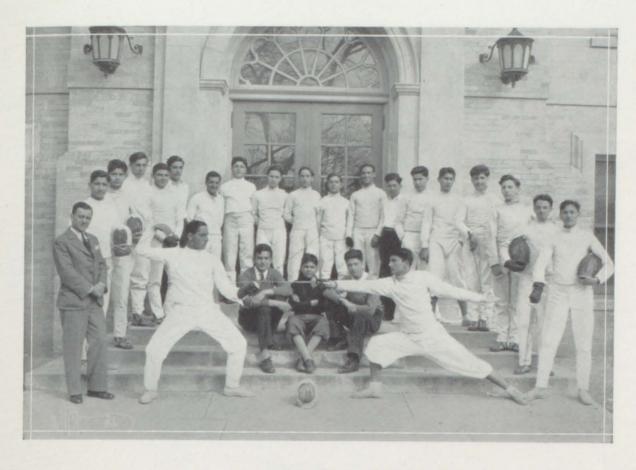

TENNIS

WHEN warm weather rolls around and the days begin to lengthen, we know that the tennis season is here again. As usual, Barringer will be represented in this nationally popular sport. Last year the team tied West Side for the City Championship, but the team has been hard hit by graduation. With only two veterans back, namely, Jamison and Demarest, our prospects are slightly dark. Dick Comstock and Richard Laddey are expected to blossom into first-stringers. As yet the team has not been organized, but under the able leadership of Coach Saylor the team will probably render a good account of itself. The team will begin active practice as soon as the courts open. Manager Hirschhorn has arranged matches with the following teams:

May 3, Montclair Academy at Montclair; 5, West Side at West Side; 8, East Orange at East Orange; 9, Montclair at Montclair; 12, South Side at Barringer; 15, Columbia at South Orange; 16, Montclair at Barringer; 19, West Side at Barringer; 22, East Orange at Barringer; 24, South Side at South Side; 26, Columbia at Barringer.

FENCING

AS this book goes to press, Barringer's crack State Championship Fencing Team has yet to complete its season. This season's varsity consists of Captain Don Cetrulo, Garrone, Boutsikaris, Mauriello, Calcagno, and Viscidi.

Barringer displayed great form in conquering Princeton's strongest Freshman team by the overwhelming score of eight to one.

The 1932-33 fencing team will rank among Barringer's greatest athletic teams, and there are adequate reasons for this recognition. It was its fourth consecutive State Championship; it defeated some of the strongest high school and Freshman college teams in the East. It placed three men in the national finals, something no other school has done. Last, but not least, it achieved a national reputation for being the strongest high school team in the country.

In the State Championships, Captain Cetrulo successfully defended his title, while his teammate, Boutsikaris, finished in second place.

In the National Interscholastics, Captain Cetrulo missed first place by one point.

A great deal of credit is due to Mr. V. Libero Sibilia, faculty advisor, for it was his enthusiastic encouragement and great interest which spurred the team on to victory.

GOLF

IN 1930, '31, and '32 our team won the City Championship, and expects to win it again this year. With three veterans from last year—Ernest Luccadamo, captain; Allen Lemassena, and William Fenwick—and a promising group of new candidates, the team looks forward to a very successful season. Some of the candidates who will strive for a place on the team are: Ray Neri, John Benham, Stewart Jamison, Max Walklin, and Fred Poreca. Last season our team won nine matches, lost three, and tied one. This season's seventeen-game schedule includes Central and South Side of Newark, Blair Academy, Lawrenceville School, Thomas Jefferson of Elizabeth, Caldwell, Paterson East Side, and Belleville. The team will also participate in the State tournament to be held at the Hopewell Country Club in June. Although there are likely to be approximately sixty high and prep schools represented in this tournament, the Blue of Barringer expects to shine. Lemassena, besides playing on the team, manages it. Mr. Arthur Payton is the coach. The home course will be the Branch Brook Park Links.

CHEVRON GIRLS

THE 4A girls, who have at least three chevrons and one star, are: Agnes Adubato, Pearl Allan, Eleanor Anderson, Andree Belverge, Carolyn Capone, Jeanette Feldtmann, Naomi Greene, Dorothy McCaulay, Regina O'Malley, Mary Rabinowitz, Helen Raynor, Gilda Salerno, Dorothy Souter, Kathleen Watt, and Virginia Wright. There are also a great many other girls who have one, two, or three chevrons.

Most of the points for these awards were received for good gymnastic ratings, which include co-operation, and for good postures. Nearly all of these girls are squad captains and have perfect records of attendance and preparation.

This year there have been both swimming and tennis teams, under the direction of Mrs. Pattyson, and these things helped add up the points as minor sports. In the major sports hockey was the only one in which the girls could participate this year, because basketball couldn't be played on account of the afternoon classes in the gym.

One thousand points are needed for a B, seven hundred for three chevrons and three stars, and five hundred for three chevrons and one star.

B GIRLS

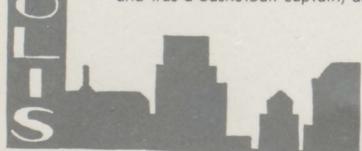

FOUR girls of our class have been working especially hard, but they aren't regretting their work, because they have accumulated enough points to be awarded their B's. Carroll Bodman, Harriet Bowen, May Buchman, and Ruth Leuzarder are the lucky girls. All of them have received a majority of their points for excellent marks in general gymnastics, which include punctuality, preparation, and co-operation. Perfect postures also help to add up the points. These same girls have further distinguished themselves by acting as squad captains.

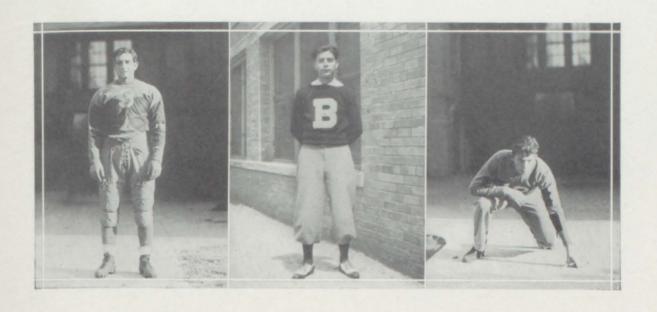

The '32 All-Star Hockey Team and the '32 Basketball Team both had Carroll for a member. She also participated in swimming and tennis.

Harriet's specialty is golf, and she has the honor of being the only one of the B girls who has played golf for Barringer.

One of our fastest, most outstanding basketball players we have is seen in May. She played the position of center on the '32 team.

Versatile describes Ruth, for she has gone out for baseball and tennis, and was a basketball captain, and was on the all-star hockey team.

B AND MINOR B MEN

VINCENT ALBANESE

Vinnie may truthfully be called a super-athlete. Few of us who know him will quickly forget his superb work as varsity quarterback last year, or his thrilling feats as a sprinter and pole-vaulter on the track team of which he is captain. During the winter of '32 Vinnie also captained the gym team and turned in a very good performance in the city meet. Besides having been honored with two captaincies, he has also made six major letters during his stay at school.

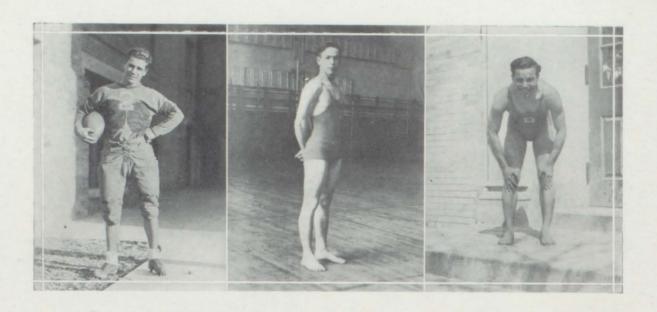

PAUL BARBA

Paul has been active in swimming for two years. In '32 he was assistant manager and earned a B2 for his good work. In '33 he was rewarded with the managerial position and through his hard work, the team had one of the most representative schedules in recent years. At the end of the season he was awarded a major letter for his tireless efforts.

TED BARDACKE

When Ted first went out for football four years ago, no one conceded him much chance, yet for the last two seasons he has been a varsity performer at guard. Football is, however, but one of "TB's" many activities; he is the track team's mainstay in the discus throw, and is president of the Boxing Club. Wrestling has also been tried with success by this versatile lad. Ted has garnered three major and two second team letters during his sojourn at Barringer.

LAWRENCE BURNETT

When baseball was popular in Barringer, Larry was seen among the candidates for the team, but it was on the football field that he achieved fame. Larry spent the season of '29 in learning the fundamentals of the game. The next season found him a varsity halfback and fullback. He was famous for his left-hand passing, which was a valuable asset to the team. As a reward for his efforts, Larry departs with three major letters in his possession.

RICHARD U. COMSTOCK

Swimming is connected with Dick's name. He made the team in '31, earning his B2. During the next two seasons Dick was our star breast stroker. In the city meet this year, Lady Luck failed to smile upon Dick and he was unable to place better than fourth in his specialty. Besides being a breast stroker, he was a member of the medley relay team. He has received two major letters. He was also a member of the tennis team.

MICHAEL DeIGUERCIO

Swimming, football, and baseball are all connected with Mike's name. He has received three second team letters in football and one in baseball. For swimming, he has three minor letters and one major letter. He was a breast stroker and a member of the free style relay team. He was a member of the State Championship Free Style Relay Team and of the City Championship Medley Relay Team. In the city meet this year he garnered third place in the breast stroke.

STANFORD ELDRIDGE

Stan started his athletic career by going out for baseball. He played way out in left field, where the going was easy. But after two years of this it began to get monotonous so Stan decided to try football and see if it was any livelier. This proved to be just what he was looking for, and he played at quarter, shifting to half once in a while. In this way he has earned four major letters.

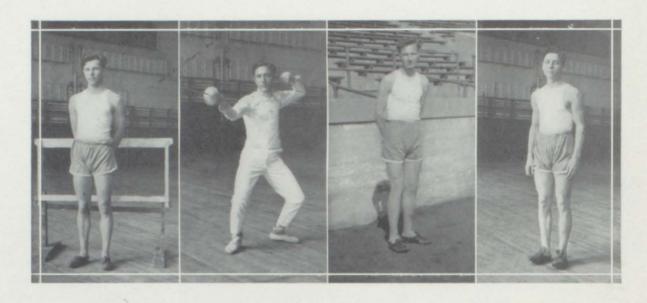

JOSEPH T. FLAGG

Tom won his first letter for track in '31 while attending East Side. Then in the fall he transferred to Barringer. In '32 he won the Junior Intra-mural Track Championship, and in the city meet he triumphed in the seventy-yard dash, and the broad jump. He was a member of the State record-holding quarter-mile relay team. During the indoor season he was one of our stellar performers. In the coming outdoor season he expects to star in the two-twenty.

ADELBERT FISCHER

Del is one of the veterans of this year's swimming squad, having swam for four years in competition for Barringer. He is generally known as the distance swimmer of the team but during his career he has done everything on the team except the dives. He ranked sixth in the State this year and has twice been runner-up in the 200-yard race in the city meet. Del has annexed one second team letter and three major letters while at Barringer.

JOHN McKENNA

Johnny has been with us only two years, having come from Seton Hall, but he certainly has been a busy boy during that time. While Mac runs the sprints indoors, his best event is the low hurdles, having taken second place in the city meet his first year out. Just for the sake of versatility he went out for cross-country this fall and ran varsity all season. Johnny leaves us with letters in both track and cross-country.

JOSEPH RESTAINO

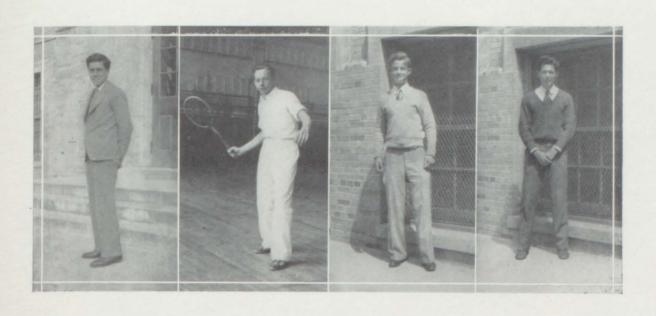

Joe made his debut in Barringer sports as a member of our school's famous undefeated fencing team and was rewarded with a major B in his second season, after first having won a second team letter. In the fall of '32 he went out for cross-country and was given a minor letter for his efforts. When outdoor season came, Joe did not want to remain idle, so he tried out for the half-mile run but with little success.

ROBERT SHANKS

Bob Shanks' name is coupled with track and cross-country. He ran for two years on the cross-country team and then devoted all of his time to track. Today he ranks as one of the best milers in State scholastic competition. While at Barringer he has annexed two major letters, one second team letter, and one minor letter. And it may well be forecast that he will add to this collection before the present outdoor season is over.

HOLCOMBE TOMSON

One look at Hokey would convince that he is an athlete. He has a fine build and exudes physical fitness, but his achievements outrank even his fine appearance. He is one of the mainstays of the cross-country team, climaxing his four years by being elected captain. Hokey is also one of the best milers in the State, ranking third. While at Barringer he has been awarded four major letters, one second team and one minor letter.

WILLIAM FENWICK

Bill has been active as a golfer. In 1930 he went out for golf. He didn't receive a letter but gained valuable experience. In '31 he was rewarded with a letter, and the following year he was a member of the city championship team. This year he will undoubtedly receive another letter. Bill also earned a letter for soccer and a B2 for tennis.

RICHARD LADDEY

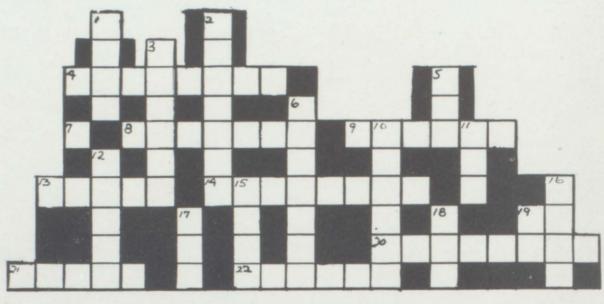

Dick went out for swimming and track but because these sports were overcrowded he decided to switch to tennis. In '32, his first year at tennis, he was awarded a second team letter. This season a much improved Dick will go on the courts for Barringer and he should encounter no trouble in making his letter.

ALLEN LEMASSENA

During his stay in Barringer Allen has tried out for track, baseball, and cross-country without success. But in '32 he went out for golf and was a member of the city championship team. This season, besides being one of the better players on the team, Allen is acting as manager for the team, and expects a very successful season.

ERNEST LUCCADAMO

Ernie has made a real name for himself in the golf field. In '31 he won the Barringer golf championship and received a letter. Ernie has been on the city championship team for three years and he was city champion in '31. Because of his fine record he was elected captain for 1933. The team will probably retain its city championship under his leadership.

THE MISSING SLINK

ME and Joe was over to the new Fenwick Power Building last week, looking for that guy Slink, who embezzled the funds of the Big Stein Trust and Finance Company last month. Joe had a hot tip that the guy was hanging out over there, so Joe goes over to check up, and I goes along to see if I can get any dirt for my column. Things is so dull now, what with the new era of prosperity and all, that we newspapermen ain't got nothing to talk about. But I sure got a scoop that day! And then some!

Well, as I was saying, me and Joe O'Connor goes over there—Say, that guy's a honey! He knows everyone in the place! We goes into the lobby there and he stops at the supervisor's desk and says hello to the fella. It seems he's an old friend, Clint Horn, and Joe tells him he's gotta search the building. Well, Horn says it's O. K. and gives us a pass and we goes on up to the third floor. Say didja know John Tierney was running an elevator there? 'Sa fact. Well, he took us up and Joe and me goes over to the Orton News Syndicate Offices and busts in on the radio receiving room; but it's all right because I happen to know the manager, Bill Jordan, and he's a good guy. Well, we asks questions around and listens in on the news flashes. That was the day Citizen Theodore Bardacke, the big cheese over in Russia, overthrew the Five Year Plan and made himself dictator. Just another Napoleon! And there was the one about Miss Phylene Cozzone winning the Atlantic City Beauty Contest and having dinner with the judge, "Speed" Ensign. They say he's going back on blondes. I'll have to put that in my column in a dull moment. The next tip was on science. Donald Hilliard discovered a new element in his indelible hair-dye. Kathleen Watt made her debut with Caruso's latest rival, Matonti, that day; but the hottest tip was the one about Douglass Orton, head of the syndicate, being sued by "Dazzling Dolly" Fenielli, the mannequin of the great dress designer, Robert Torcasio, for breach of promise. Just what Doug promised Dolly wasn't quite clear, but she heard he was hanging around the Rita Foley Home for Stray Cats recently and put her attorney, Seigal, on his trail. There was a good flash about Rita DuBrou's Best Seller for gullible people, too. It seems that Joe O'Connor has ordered fifty copies. Joe wasn't there when the tip came through. He was busy talking to two of the reporters, Mario Rizzolo and El Crane; so I put it in my column the next morning. (I haven't seen Joe since.)

Then they announced that Mildred Holmes broke a silence of four years that day by calling out the window to an old friend, Leonard Bissel, the cop on the corner. Joe got so excited when he heard it that he ran out to find Andree Belverge, another pal of his, who writes the Advice to the Lovelorn column on Orton's paper. They both got to talking about mutual friends and when I finally dragged him out he was raving about a certain Reverend H. W. Anderson, who had just returned from fifteen years in China, converting the heathens. Joe decided to go on up to the sixteenth floor to see if a politician could tell him anything about this guy Slink. But "Boss" Laddey was sulking and wouldn't talk. It seemed that I had said something in my column the other day about his smoking a ten-cent cigar at the annual Stupnocratic Rally. So we went up to the thirty-second floor then to see Chen-du, the magician, an old 'friend of Joe's, too. They started to rake other old "pals" over the fire. They mentioned Townsend Bull, who has just returned from a seven-year siesta in the jungle. They didn't say just what he was doing in the jungle. Well, finally we left to go up to the forty-third floor to see Jack Mills, the bartender in Eleanor Anderson's Exclusive Night Club. They say Jack knows all the low down on everyone, but he didn't know a thing about this guy Slink! We saw a crowd there, though; I put Lindholm, the dramatic critic; Mary Rabinowitz, the tap dancer; Muriel Listman, the movie star; Virginia Wright, the society reporter; Vincent Albanese, the Pole Vault Champ; Decker, the Bouncer; Myra Ashman, the President of the American Women's Government League; Michael Panico, the artist; and Ruth Strackbein, the poetess; all in my column the next day. Were they surprised! Oh well, I do get around a bit! That's where I got the tips that Del Fisher broke a record, swimming the placid waters of the Passaic and about Gardner Van Duyne's trip across the Atlantic in a two-foot sailboat. He designed the tub himself and sank half-way out. However, he was rescued by Captain Giles, who was sailing by in his million dollar yacht.

We went all over that building. Gee, everybody was there! I saw Edith Clarendon, the prominent American humorist; Sayre Lummis, the agricultural expert; and Elodie Livingston, who just completed her non-stop flight around the world in her plane, "Duke II." Finally we went back to the Orton offices and heard that the guy we'd come to get had been taken by Sir Richard Comstock, the great crime investigator, an hour ago. And the funny part of it is, this guy Slink turned out to be a government secret service man who'd come to find out about some deals and Stein got excited and mistook him for a crook. I guess Joe was glad he wasn't the one to capture the missing Slink after all. But that sure was a lucky day! I got enough material for my column to last me a week. Guess I'll have to drop around with Joe more often.

5. What is your favorite sport?	Swimming.	Teaching 4A's 1B Latin.
6. Do you like Cab Calloway?	For crying out loud—what's that?	Never tasted it.
7. Do you take setting up exercises?	I'm lucky to get to school on time.	Haven't reached that stage yet.
8. Who is your favorite movie star?	Greta Garbo.	A 4A girl—if she should go to Hollywood.
9. What do you think of the present generation?	Not as good as my own, but not as bad as it seems.	Very cute—but they'll out- grow it.
10. Do you eat spinach?	Spinach?!?! No — mush- rooms.	Under protest.
11. Can you wiggle your ears?	Sure. That's why I have this haircut—I've had it 35 years.	Really I never thought of trying it.
12. How many years did it take you to go through high school?	Four.	I'm not through yet.
13. How do you like your eggs?	Dropped one at a time in coffee.	Every morning.
14. What section of the paper do you read first?	F. P. A.—This is high brow stuff.	The sporting column is not the last.
15. To what do you attribute your success?	To having taught the senior A's and survived.	To keeping "my eye on the ball."
16. What do you think of this interview?	I think it's the worst gang- ster-racketeer hold up that's been pulled this year.	I liked the intervieweress.

SILENCE! Gloomy fetid silence. Unbroken save for the distant boom of the trams. The air was so still you could almost hear! The earth was not unlike some infinitesimal drop, hurled out into nothingness—into its dead stillness.

Silence! And the fog. Dank musty fog, the fog of rotted and decayed vegetation, rolling in from the moors instead of the sea.

Silence! The fog!! Midnight!!! The trams had long since ceased and now from many miles away, carried by the denser atmosphere, could be heard, hardly discernable at times, the hollow and monotonous boom of the surf. For centuries the surf had boomed such. It had played the wedding march of time, and somewhere when the atoms of this earth had ceased to be combined to form this earth, that same ceaseless pounding would play its funeral dirge.

The silence grew denser, the fog grew thicker, and the surf grew more monotonous.

And then, as the last clashing clangs of the village bell ceased to reverberate through the night, breaking in where they should not have been, a sudden coldness seemed to penetrate through to my bones. It was then that those two eyes appeared. For a long while they bored and drilled horribly into my very soul, burning with a pale blue light about seven feet off the ground. Slowly those two gleaming eyes began to draw towards me, unhurried, confident, hypnotic. Their calmness annoyed me, their confidence angered me and their—and then I woke up to the realization that I had not done my Latin!

Bearing the News from Washington to Milwaukee

Out of the night and into the town, He came ariding with his head held down. He had started out with his face in a frown. But now with every passing mile, His face broke into a broader smile.

11.

He came to a stop at the innkeep's door, Like a messenger bearing a word of war. While across the street from the old grey store Came all the people who were in the place With a look of wonderment on their face.

111.

He mumbled a bit, and then, fell off on his head, Hitting the ground—indeed—quite dead. So very few heard what was said And only they who stood right near L'eard of the promise of three point two beer.

LIFE

The world outside was full of fun.
The world outside had laughter in its head.
And few of the people thought of the poor sick one
And few of those thought of the babe now crying in the nursery bed.

Her husband had come and was talking, But they did not know if she heard. She lay there just breathing, speaking nary a word. And up from the depths Death came, stalking, stalking. . . .

For two long weeks she had fought him—
Fought him with blood and her will
Until that night in March when her room was very still
And the face of the nurses and the doctor were drawn and grim.

Down the hall he came, working best twixt eve and dawn.
The spectre paused, and opened her sick room door
Then hastened in, for he must visit many more
He touched her, she awakened. He left the room, and she was gone.

The world outside was full of fun.
The world outside had laughter in its head.
And few of the people thought of the poor sick one
And few of those thought of the babe, now motherless, in the nursery bed.

AND SO FAREWELL

Now we leave our city fair, We shall press on, to do, to dare To spread the fame of her dear name Through all this nation wide.

CHORUS

And so farewell dear Barringer Our faith we pledge to thee Fairest city you will be Forever in our memory.

Your citizens for four short years, Have learned to face life without fears You've been our guide, now far and wide We press on dauntlessly.

CHORUS

Whichever way our path may lead We'll praise thy name with word and deed And now we go, your worth to show Dear Barringer, our city.

CHORUS

What if-

Myra were a milkman instead of an Ashman? Townsend, a cow instead of a Bull? George, white instead of Black? Powell, a lieutenant instead of an Ensign? Kay, an ohm instead of a Watt? Eleanor, a duck instead of a Crane? Robert, a mug instead of a Stein? Winnie, brief instead of Wordley? Virginia, wrong instead of Wright? Clinton, a bell instead of a Horn? Bill, a tale instead of a Storey? May, a newsboy instead of a Buchman? Richard, a lassy instead of a Laddey? Aaron, a colonel instead of a Squire? Fred, a canary instead of a Seigal? Adelbert, a sailor instead of a Fischer? Naomi, blue instead of Green? Thomas, a banner instead of a Flaga?

What if-

Rabinowitz, sad instead of Mary?
Allan, a diamond instead of a Pearl?
Bodman, a hymn instead of a Carol?
Gano, January instead of June?
Van Duyne, a farmer instead of a Gardner?
Lummis, a listener instead of a Sayre?
Delany, a king instead of a Jack?
Souter, a period instead of a Dot?
Nesto, a beam instead of a Ray?
Fenwick, an act instead of a Bill?

Well, what about it!?

AWAKE, FOOL

T came to me one night, I say "it" because she wasn't human, but she was horribly beautiful. As I raised my head from the book which I was reading I saw her looking down at me; she was smiling. Her skin was white, so white; her lips were red, redder than blood itself, her eyes were black as coals; her black hair covering her naked shoulders. I did not move. I was afraid. She beckoned me to come with her. I wanted to go but I knew I shouldn't. I got up and followed her. Where she took me I cannot say, it seemed as though I were in heaven, and then in hell. I lost all track of time. I forgot everything.

The next thing I remember, I found myself in the same old chair with the book of Poe in my lap.

It was a terrible experience, and I am looking forward to another night with Poe, and possibly "it."

HUMOR

OUR CLASS MOTTO

The more you study, the more you know, The more you know, the more you forget, The more you forget, the less you know, So why study?

Last night I held a little hand
So dainty and so neat,
I thought my heart would surely burst,
So wildly did it beat.
No other hand e'er held so tight,
Could greater gladness bring,
Than the one I held last night, it was—
Four aces and a king!

Scene: Aboard one of the Briggs of J. P. Morgan.

Characters: A Saylor and a Stewart.

Subject of conversation: Just reminiscences of a Taylor friend.

Saylor: "You'd think that Taylor was a King, the way he puts on Ayers."

Stewart: "If he tries his Ayres on me, he'll meet his Dumm. I was a Romer in my young days, and have seen the Farquahrters of the earth, but I've never seen anybody Pullin such high-hat stunts."

Saylor: "I'd like to Peck him one Hardin good with a Barr of iron."

Stewart: "You Wood, you're Burley enough to make him look like a Beebe."

Saylor: "To me he is just a Sauer-faced Weiss guy. But to think I Ammarell-ative of his, Oh! MY Hartman."

Stewart: "Oh, let's forget him. Say, where are we Bowne for in this Smoke-Belcher?"

Saylor: "This two Decker is on a secret mission to some Fort on the Rine."

About the only person whose business is picking up is the garbage collector.

Mr. Taylor (to Freshman on the front seat): "What is your name?"

Freshman: "Borden."

Mr. Taylor: "Any relation to the milk people?"

Fresh.: "No, sir."

Mr. Taylor: "Well you are now, you're canned."

The difference between a flapper and an old maid is that the flapper goes out with the Johnnies and the old maid stays home with the Willies.

Teacher: "How many days are contained in each month?"

Bright Senior:

"Thirty days hath September,
All the rest I can't remember.
The calendar hangs upon the wall,
So why bother me with this at all?"

Teacher: "What is the opposite of sor-

Brangs: "Gayety."

Teacher: "And the opposite of misery?"

Brangs: "Happiness."

Teacher: "And what is the opposite of woe?"

Brangs: "Giddiap."

She: "You remind of Nero."

He: "Why?"

She: "Here I am burning up and you're just fiddling around."

Things we seniors would like to know:

- 1. Who bottled Eli Whitney's Cotton Gin?
- 2. Why Mr. Snavely can't make the track team?
 - 3. Who won the Industrial Revolution?

CLASS PHILOSOPHY

Gather ye roses while you may,
The years are quickly shifted,
And the face that blooms today,
Tomorrow may have to be lifted.

Judge (sternly): "Well, what is your alibi for speeding 50 miles an hour?"

Mr. Saylor: "I had just heard, your honor, that the ladies of my wife's church were giving a rummage sale, and I was hurrying home to save my other pair of pants."

"Case dismissed."

Lummis: "Say, Jordan, what do you call a man who drives an automobile?"

Jordan: "It depends on how close he comes to me."

Professor: "You missed my class the other day."

Student: "Not in the least I assure you."

Mr. Dumm: "What is the strongest poison?"

Student: "An airplane." Mr. Dumm: "How come?"

Student: "One drop and you're dead!"

Judge (to O'Connor arrested for gambling): "What trade do you follow?"

O'Connor: "I'm a locksmith, your honor."

Judge: "A locksmith? Well, what were you doing when the policeman entered the room?"

O'Connor: "Making a bolt for the door, your honor."

Lawyer: "What did you say when you saw the automobile approach the railroad track."

Watchman: "I said, 'That is a fine car, wasn't it?' "

PANORAMA OF A TRAGEDY

He: "What if I did love last Saturday. Sivore, our love was no sham, Today is another Saturday And so, my love, please scram."

She: "It's all over now, I knew it couldn't last, You had your fun, Now I have a past."

"Washington couldn't tell a lie:-when he saw one.

Fenwick: "Down in front! Down in

Bull: "What's down in front?"

Hauber (presiding over National Honor Society Meeting): "Now we will have a brief intermission while the new members will congratulate the old members."

-0-

She: "I suppose you are on the football team?"

Del Guercio (proudly): "Well, yes. I do the aerial work."

She: "What's that?"

Del Guercio: "Well, I blow up the balls."

Professor: "What's the most common impediment in the speech of the American people?"

Freshman: "Chewing gum."

"Someone stole my violin."

"Stole your violin! Why, what did you do about it?"

"Well, I gave the case to my lawyer."

Why do they call it a "shipment" when it goes in a car, and a "cargo" when it goes on a ship?

O'Connor: "I think he is the most stupid

Teacher: "Now, now, aren't you forgetting yourself."

School may be the right road to success. but there is more fun on the detours.

Orton: "Porter, how much to carry baggage?"

Porter: "Ten cents the first parcel, then five cents each additional parcel.'

Orton: "I'll carry the first parcel, and you take the other."

Teacher: "Why don't you answer my question?"

Jack: "I shook my head."

Teacher: "You don't expect me to hear the rattle clear over here, do you?"

Bardacke: "I took a telephone operator to the races the other day and I lost.

Albanese: "Well, what has the telephone operator got to do with your losing your money?"

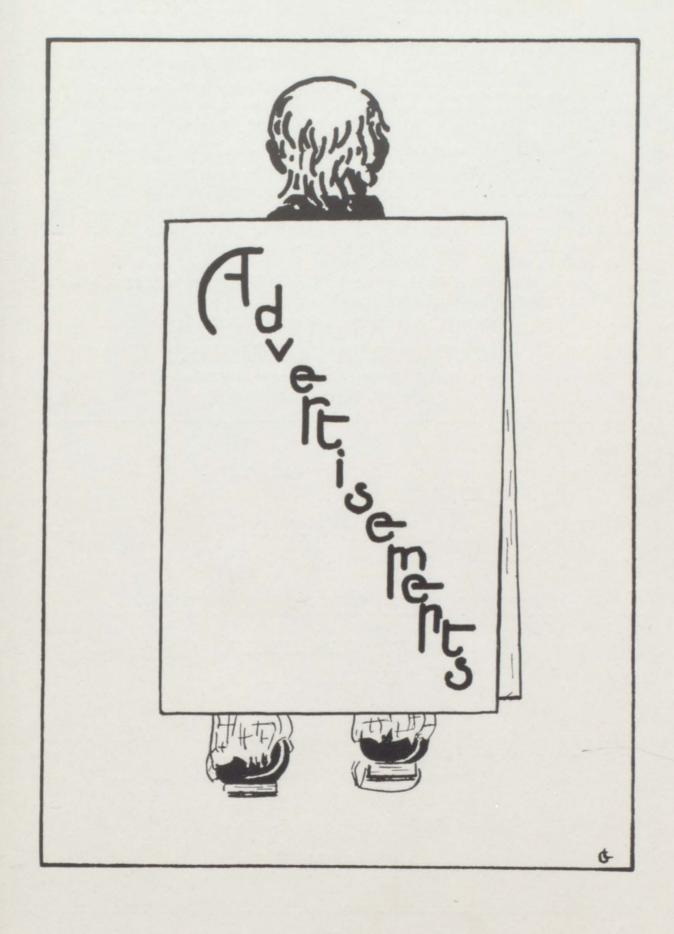

Bardacke: "She pulled the wrong plug."

Professor: "What is ignorance?"

Freshman: "It's when you don't know something and somebody finds it out."

ADVICE TO SENIORS

"Find out where the money is and get there as quickly as you can, and when you get there, get all you can get there, and then get out of there with all you can get out of those that are there, before those that are there get out of you all that you got there, after you got there."

Giving and Taking

MAN has learned one worth-while lesson in his march to civilization.

He knows that with few exceptions one gets from life just about as much as he gives.

Further, he knows the satisfaction to be gained from unselfish concern for another's welfare and happiness.

Nurture this ideal; It's worth while.

A RUTGERS DEGREE

A college degree is the mark of distinction which has been conferred upon a man or woman in recognition of scholastic attainments. A great deal of its intrinsic value is dependent upon the standing of the institution which so recognizes the student's work.

No finer recognition could be earned for scholastic attainment than a degree from Rutgers University. The reputation and high standing of this great institution, built up over a period of 167 years, renders its degrees highly honored in educational and professional circles.

A degree of Bachelor of Science in Pharmacy, conferred by Rutgers University, is a standard of excellence in collegiate preparations for the practice of pharmacy.

CHARACTERISTICALLY DIFFERENT!

From the earliest days when man first recorded his impressions by arduous carving in stone, the inherent faculty of true craftsmanship manifested itself. Among the relics of the early stone carvers can be found outstanding examples of characteristic difference—distinctive ability that was the forerunner for the artist and the craftsman of today. And just as primitive recordings in stone show varying degrees of superiority, so does a Colyer-produced Annual stand out distinctive of the full possibilities of the highly-developed graphic arts of today.
